We first asked our clients why they want this app, and their response was mainly for customer satisfaction and utility. They want to change the process of ordering so:

1. As a customer, I want this ordering app, in order to have better customer satisfaction and change the process of ordering for the restaurants.
2. As a customer, I want the app to offer recommendations for the restaurant, in order to ease the process of ordering and help me order when I have no idea what to buy and find it difficult to make a decision.
3. As a customer, I want the app to store my preferences and dislikes, in order to have the app deliver accurate recommendations relevant to my tastes.
4. As a restaurant owner, I want the app to have information stored specifically for my restaurant, in order to facilitate the ordering and recommending of our menu items to the customer.
5. As a restaurant owner, I want the app to be able to update the menu, in order to maintain the app's displayed menu and keep the recommendations and orders current.

"back end"

"front end"